This Week—

By M. I. N. I.

Birthday anniversaries do roll around, don't they? Secretary Dern had one yesterday. Congratulations, Mr. Secretary. General Pershing will have one on the 13th. The Army will pause for a moment on that day to pay tribute to this great leader.

Speaking of Secretary Dern, here is a hint given me. Vice-President Garner will not be a candidate for renomination in 1936. The President and leading Democrats, impressed by the excellent record which Mr. Dern is making as Secretary of War, are considering his availability as the tail of the ticket three years hence. I am not a politician, but I can say as one who has watched the Secretary for some months, he would be a first-class choice, and this in spite of the ambitions of Mr. Ickes.

Returning to General Pershing, I have word that he expects to finish the Battle Monuments in France and be ready for their dedication next summer. This has been a labor of love to him and is his tribute to the men of his command who died for the victory of the Stars and Stripes. In celebrating his birthday anniversary we will do honor to a soldier whose greatness time is limning and to an American whose first thought is for his country.

Just as was to have been expected, Secretary of the Navy Swanson has been sent to Havana to curb the activities of Ambassador Welles and to endeavor to restore peace among a people rent by factions. He will be supported by a strong naval force. Whether this demonstration will re-establish peace remains to be seen. Look out for landing parties in the Island, if not active military intervention!

The senior officer in command in Cuban waters is Rear Admiral C. S. Freeman, commanding the Special Service Squadron. I know him and can assure the country that under his direction there will be conservatism in action. Such a policy is needed.

I made a mistake in my contribution in this column that the Army and Navy will not be represented at the Geneva meeting of the Disarmament Conference. They will be. Lt. Col. George Strong will be among the Army representatives. Others familiar with the subject also will attend. Well, at least they'll stop Ambassador Norman Davis from going overboard!

The General Board has approved the general design for a flying deck cruiser, and Chief Constructor Land will prepare the plans. This is the beginning of an experiment that should not be delayed.

Cuban Tenseness Puts Naval Forces on Alert

With intervention in Cuba an ever constant possibility, the Navy this week stood by to take over the situation should the call come.

A light cruiser and three destroyers are now in Cuban waters ready to protect American lives and property. The cruiser Richmond and the destroyers McFarland and Bainbridge are in Havana harbor, while the Sturtevant is at Santiago. Enroute to the island is the battleship Mississippi, and the heavy cruiser Indianapolis, both due to arrive today.

Secretary of the Navy Swanson, scheduled to stop at Guantanamo, Cuba, on his trip to the West Coast on the Indianapolis, moved up his sailing date and will go to Havana. The length of his stay there is undetermined.

Rear Adm. C. S. Freeman, USN, Commander of the Special Service Squadron, aboard the Richmond, is in charge of the naval vessels in the Cuban waters.

Marines from stations along the East Coast have been sent to Quantico, Va., to form the 7th Regiment of Marines, to be available in case of intervention. The regiment is commanded by Col. Richard P. Williams, USMC, regular duty Marine Headquarters, Washington, D. C.; Lt. Col. John Henley, USMC, now regularly on duty at Marine Barracks, Quantico, Va.; Lt. Col. S. S. Lee, USMC, Marine Barracks, Washington, D. C., and Maj. John Potts, USMC, Marine Barracks, Quantico, Va., have been assigned.

Marines from the following stations are at Quantico: Philadelphia Navy Yard, 107; Annapolis, Md., 10; Navy Yard, Washington, D. C., 59; Marine Barracks, Washington, D. C., 56; Norfolk Navy Yard, Portsmouth, Va., 84; Naval Operating Base, Norfolk, Va., 243; Sea School, Norfolk, Va., 116; now at Marine Barracks, Quantico, Va., 359.

Orders were issued Sept. 7 to Capt. R. A. White, USN, Commander Destroyer (Please turn to Page 39)

Marine Generals Appointed

Brig. Gen. Dion Williams, USMC, has been appointed a major general by the President filling the vacancy created by the retirement of Maj. Gen. Logan Feland on Sept. 1.

Col. Charles Huntington Lyman, USMC, is appointed a brigadier general, to fill the vacancy created by General Williams' advancement. Maj. Gen. John T. Myers, USMC, now holding a temporary major generalcy, will receive the permanent rank held by General Feland, with General Williams succeeding to his temporary commission.

General Williams has spent more than 46 years in the naval service. He was born in Ohio, Dec. 15, 1869, and appointed to the Naval Academy in 1887. Graduating in '91, he served throughout the Spanish-American War and commanded the first company that landed on Spanish soil after the Battle of Manila Bay, hoisting the first American flag in

Marine to Get Journal CCC Award in 1st CA

Acclaim and approbation from the Army, Navy and Marine Corps has greeted the selection of the 2205th Company as the most outstanding Civilian Conservation Corps company in the First Corps Area.

Commanded by a Marine Captain, with regular Army lieutenants of Infantry and Air Corps as the other company officers, and non-commissioned officers of Field Artillery and Infantry assisting, the 2205th Company composed of War Veterans constitutes a cosmopolitan service organization.

Their selection under War Department regulations means that Capt. Harry W. Bacon, USMC, together with the commanders of the outstanding CCC companies in the other eight Corps Areas, will be awarded the Gold Medal offered by the ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL. The subordinate officers each will receive a silver button, while the enlisted men of the regular service and the enrolled men of the company each will receive a bronze button presented by the ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL.

The care exercised by the First Corps Area headquarters, under command of Maj. Gen. Fox Conner, in choosing the outstanding company from among the 126 units at work in that Corps Area is evidenced by the following informative

Budget Orders Omit Pay Cut, Retain Freeze

With the receipt of instructions from the Bureau of the Budget this week relative to the building up of the War and Navy Departments' estimates for 1935, a foundation was given for a belief that the 15 per cent pay cut will die with the current appropriation bill.

The Departments, Budget Director Douglas told the ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL, will make their estimates on the basis of 100 per cent pay without allowance for the 15 per cent salary cut now in effect.

While these instructions inspired high hopes among the government departments in Washington, Mr. Douglas made it plain to the JOURNAL that it does not necessarily mean the end of the pay cut. "Of course," he said, "we will have to figure on the basis of 100 per cent pay because we cannot foretell what the cost of living will be and under the present law that is the determining factor in paying salaries. If it should appear that living costs justify a cut we will reduce our estimates accordingly."

As to the pay "freeze" an unusual situation has arisen. The instructions given the War and Navy Departments thus far by the Budget Bureau provide for basing their estimates on a continuation of the restrictions against the payment of automatic increases, that is increases due to length of service, etc. On the other hand, the District Government received instructions from the Bureau of the Budget as follows: "Automatic increases for school teachers, policemen and firemen should be included for one year only, namely, 1935." This would seem to indicate that the bureau is planning to estimate for automatic increases for these classes but not for service personnel.

Inasmuch as the increases for school teachers, policemen and firemen have been restricted by the same pay "freeze" that applies to service personnel, Mr. Douglas was asked whether it is the thought to increase one and not the other. In reply he said that the services, too, probably will be asked later to submit figures as to the cost of restoring the automatic increases.

"There is nothing else for us to do," Mr. Douglas said, "the present law applies only to this year. The Bureau of the Budget cannot foretell what Congress will do and we must submit the estimates under the law for 1935 as it exists now. We have to follow the law, that is all."

No explanation was advanced as to why the District Government was told to include the increases and the War and Navy Departments were not.

Never before has it been so important for all officers, active, retired and reserve, to keep up with service developments. Subscribe and re-subscribe to the Army and Navy Journal.

Press Sees Weakening of League of Nations in Refusal To Handle Dispute

Further evidence of the weakness of the League of Nations is seen by American newspapers in the failure of the League to take action in the dispute between Austria and Germany. European conditions are viewed as anything but promising.

"The Officers of the League of Nations, who have let it be known that they do not want the Austro-German dispute brought into their court, are making an astonishingly frank confession of the League's inability to handle a really critical European situation," comments the New York Herald Tribune. "More than this, they are giving the most effective kind of advertising to the fact that the central European impasse is really critical and is fairly abristle with potential trouble. . . .

"If it is said in Geneva that it is better to give Mussolini a chance to settle this Austrian affair out of court than to bring Nazi Germany to bar and have her sentence herself to outlawry, it means that France and Great Britain feel this way about it. . . .

"The picture of Germany which the pronouncement from Geneva and its implications suggest is that of a nation friendless, riding the clouds, in a state of autohypnosis."

States the Washington Star:

"Circumstantial reports arrive from Geneva that the League of Nations hesitates to burn its fingers with the Nazi-Austrian issue. . . . Geneva's reluctance to call Germany before its bar and demand that the Hitler government respect the sovereign rights of the Austrian Republic is due exclusively to the fear that such action would impel Germany to follow Japan's example and bolt the League. . . .

"It is an illuminating commentary on the spinelessness of Geneva, though not demonstrated for the first time, that in so supreme a crisis as the Austro-German affair the 'society of nations' including all the great powers in the world except the United States and Russia, lacks the courage to thwart the most impudent challenge to its authority yet offered in Europe."

"One of the salient developments of 1933 has been the rising star of Italy in world affairs," declares the Boston Herald. "His (Mussolini's) latest move in the befriending of bewildered Austria. According to reports from Rome, Engelbert Dollfuss, Austria's little but dynamic chancellor, promised the Italian premier during recent conversations at Riccione that his nation had wholly abandoned the idea of an alliance with Germany. This is not remarkable, as Dollfuss is almost the most determined foe of Hitler in Europe. But Mussolini's reaction was notable. He offered Austria several important economic privileges, including the use of part of the port of Trieste. With Hungary already under his wing, Mussolini seems eager to guide and protect Austria. His imitators and alleged disciples in Germany may well regard this as treachery."

Temporary Duty Allowances

An attempt of the Comptroller General to infringe upon the authority of the Secretary of War and set a limit on the time an officer may be assigned to temporary duty and draw per diem allowance has been blocked by the Attorney General.

Comptroller McCarl has sought to deny to officers of the services who are ordered to temporary duty away from their permanent station the right to per diem allowance when the period of temporary duty exceeded thirty days, by setting up a rule of his own making that such duty ceased being temporary duty after one month had elapsed. He laid such a rule in a decision involving a naval officer and the Navy Department accepted and incorporated it in its Travel Regulations.

The War Department, however, refused to admit the right of the Comptroller to usurp such authority, and submitted the question to the Department of Justice.

"It is my opinion," declared Acting Attorney General J. Crawford Biggs, replying to the Secretary of War, "in the absence of some statutory direction to the contrary, that the matter of making regulations with respect to officers in the Army governing the performance of temporary duty at one place for which per diem allowance may be paid is vested by law exclusively within the jurisdiction of the Secretary of War and the President, and therefore, the Comptroller General may not go behind your decision not to issue the regulation, but must be guided by it in exercising his general authority to audit disbursements and settle accounts."

This interpretation by the Attorney General will bind the Comptroller, it is said, inasmuch as Army finance officers will now pay the per diem claims, and the only redress open to the General Accounting Office is to ask the Department of Justice to bring suit against for illegal payment. This, the Justice Department having already held the other way, would refuse to do.

The text of the Attorney General's opinion follows:

"The Honorable
The Secretary of War.
My dear Mr. Secretary:

"I have the honor to reply to your letter of May 18, 1933, transmitting the voucher of Capt. Biglow B. Barbee, presented to the War Department for payment in the amount of $13.00 on account of per diem allowance for temporary duty in excess of thirty days, which you suggest be considered as an actual case pending in your Department in connection with your request of March 16, 1933, for my opinion as to whether, in the absence of instructions issued by the Secretary of War, the Comptroller General may, by his authority alone, fix a limit of thirty days as the maximum period within which an army officer may perform temporary duty at one place and receive per diem allowance in lieu of subsistence.

"It appears that a question has arisen in the Office of the Chief of Finance as to whether this voucher should be paid by reason of the Comptroller General's letter to the Secretary of the Navy dated August 26, 1932 (A-43746) wherein it was suggested that the proposed travel instructions relating to officers in the Navy be amended so as to limit the performance of temporary duty at one place for which per diem allowance might be paid to a period not exceeding thirty days. This amendment was included in the travel instructions subsequently issued by the Secretary of the Navy.

"The War Department has definitely decided not to issue such regulations and the Judge Advocate General has rendered an opinion which has your approval, holding that in the absence of instructions issued by the Secretary of War, there is no authority in law for the application of such restriction with respect to the travel of officers in the Army. Since you have decided that this is a matter entirely within the jurisdiction of the War Department you are unwilling to submit the above voucher to the Comptroller General as this would acknowledge his right to decide the question. Therefore, before issuing instructions to the Chief of Finance you request my opinion as to your authority in the premises.

"Prior to June 30, 1932, officers in the Army on temporary duty were paid on

To Attend Army's Conference

It was learned at the State Department yesterday that Rear Adm. Richard H. Leigh, USN, chairman of the Navy General Board, will attend the forthcoming Arms Conference at Geneva. Lt.

The Boston Evening Transcript states:

"Unless the unexpected happens, it is to be Rome and Vienna rather than Vienna and Berlin. The week in Europe has been marked by the conversations of Premier Mussolini of Italy and Chancellor Dollfuss of Austria. Current report of the results has it that the two countries will enter into closer economic relations. Italy will give Austria rights in the Port of Trieste which will permit the creation of a merchant marine under the Austrian flag. Italy will import more goods from Austria. At the same time, concessions will be made to Hungary. The purpose is obviously to enhance the influence of Italy with its two neighbors, and so to prevent further talk of commercial alliance with Germany. . . .

"But the outstanding development of the week in world affairs is that which directly concerns Italy and its neighbors in central Europe. It presents a picture of a contrast in dictators. The man who rules Italy deals with the practical, and brings to the solution of his problems the ability of one whose feet are firmly planted on the ground. The visionary who rules in Germany is no match for Mussolini, dictator and statesman too. The scope of his influence tends constantly to enlarge. There is report that Foreign Minister Benes of Czechoslovakia is soon to visit Rome.

"What all this may mean to Germany is apparent. France looks toward the Rhine with watchful eyes. Poland keeps guard in the Corridor. Austria and Hungary further joint interests with Italy. Czechoslovakia shows disposition to do likewise. Ties that might have bound central Europe together are broken. It is part of the price that Germany pays for Hitler."

The Philadelphia Public Ledger sees trouble ahead in Europe.

"When President von Hindenburg on Sunday in a public speech referred to 'My Kaiser, the King and Lord,' states the Public Ledger, 'he was considered in certain circles to have predicted the restoration of the German monarchy after his death. On the same day Chancellor Hitler assured an enthusiastic audience in the Sarre district on the Rhine that, treaties or no treaties, that region should be returned to the Fatherland.

"To the west of the Rhine French official pronouncements were to the effect that France will defend the 'liberty' of Austria and that all treaties will be upheld. At the same time the French seem to be worried lest the Italy of Mussolini should gain too great an influence in European politics.

"News from the other countries would doubtless have shown the same spirit abroad on the troubled Continent of Europe. In all of them, nationalism is rampant and it appears to be growing more virulent as time goes on. Talk of 'the next war' is commonplace; the prediction that it will break out in October is being repeated. 'The atmosphere is decidedly unhealthy.'"

Col. George V. Strong, Inf, USA, also will return to Geneva and together with Lt. Col. Robert Goetz, military attache at Brussels, will serve as military advisor.

Coast Guard Vessels To Cuba

Twelve vessels of the Coast Guard were ordered to Cuban waters this week to supplement the naval vessels standing by there to protect American lives and property in case intervention is decreed.

The ships, eight former Navy destroyers and four cutters, reported to Rear Adm. Charles S. Freeman, USN, Commander of the Special Service Squadron, who is in charge of the naval vessels there. This is first time in years that Coast Guard vessels have operated under the Navy. Ordinarily with the Scouting Force in the Atlantic, such a move would have been unnecessary, but with few naval vessels on hand, and the Coast Guard ships available, the orders were issued.

Ordered to Havana are the following: the destroyers, George E. Badger, Welbourn C. Wood, Walwright, Semmes, Abel P. Upshur, Wilkes, Herndon, and Hunt, and the cutters, Yamacraw, Unalga, Tuscarora, and Gresham.

Navy Yard Pay Settlement

Ending a long controversy between the Navy Department and labor leaders over navy yard pay, the President this week approved the allotment of five million dollars to the Navy, which will permit an adjustment satisfactory to all concerned.

For some time navy yard workers have been working 44 hours a week and receiving 48 hours pay a week, giving them Saturday afternoons off with pay. Reduced appropriations forced the Navy Department to issue an order, placing the yards on a 40-hour week with 40 hours pay. Strong protest to the order resulted and after much discussion, the present settlement was made. It provides for alternate weeks of 36 hours work with 40 hours pay, and 44 hours work with 48 hours pay, giving an average of 40 hours work with 44 hours pay.

The Army Nurse Corps

BY MAJ. JULIA C. STIMSON

Superintendent, Army Nurse Corps

THE Army Nurse Corps was authorized by the law as an integral part of the Army on Feb. 2, 1901. Prior to that time nurses had been employed by the Medical Department of the Army on contract. Many women were so employed during the Spanish-American War in 1898 and served in Cuba, Porto Rico, the Philippine Islands, Hawaii, on transports and on the hospital ship Relief.

Dr. Anita Newcomb McGee, an acting assistant surgeon (contract surgeon), was appointed in charge of the Army Nurse Corps in 1898 and it was largely through her efforts that the corps was established by law in 1901.

Mrs. Dita Kinney who had served in the Spanish-American War was appointed Superintendent of the newly organized Corps in Washington in 1901 and served until July 31, 1900, when Miss Jane A. Delano was appointed in her place.

Until 1911 Army nurses served at three stations only—Ft. Bayard, New Mexico; San Francisco and the Philippine Department. In that year they were assigned to Walter Reed General Hospital; also to Army and Navy General Hospital at Hot Springs; to Ft. Sam Houston and the attending surgeon's office, Washington, D. C. Their number until 1916 was never more than 200.

The Mexican Border uprising in 1916 necessitated an increase in the Corps and reserve nurses (who were enrolled Red Cross nurses) were assigned to the Army Nurse Corps to augment its numbers. This brought the membership from approximately 160 to 450. By April 6, 1917, there were 403 nurses remaining in the Corps.

At the time the United States declared war on Germany the office of the Superintendent of Nurses (Miss Dora E. Thompson) in the Surgeon General's Office in Washington consisted of the Superintendent and one clerical assistant. Within eighteen months the office staff numbered about 95 persons and there were 21,480 nurses in the Corps.

This amazing expansion came as a result of statements from the War Department regarding the need for nurses and the immediate response from the nursing profession throughout the country. Nurses who were not graduate nurses were not accepted nor were aides of any sort made a part of the Corps. Assignments were made at the cantonment hospitals, general hospitals, and at many hospitals connected with the Coast Artillery Posts, Aviation Stations, Recruit Camps, and ports of embarkation located in all parts of the country. Ten thousand and four hundred were sent overseas and served in England, France, Italy, Belgium, Area of Occupation and Siberia. They were in base, evacuation and mobile camps and convalescent hospitals; also served on hospital trains and transports and with surgical teams in field hospitals.

In spite of the fact that many nurses were on duty in evacuation, mobile and field hospitals and in casualty clearing stations with the British, not a nurse was killed by enemy action and only three wounded. Many, however, succumbed to disease and a few were killed by accidents incident to the service. The total deaths in the Corps during the war period were 272.

It is not generally known that many members of the Corps were decorated for their services during the war. Three received the D. S. C.; twenty-four the D. S. M.; twenty-eight the Croix de Guerre; sixty-nine the British Royal Red Cross and two the British Military Medal. Many were cited for heroic conduct or valor in American Army orders and a number were "mentioned" in British Army despatches.

It was not until the passage of the National Defense Act on June 4, 1920, that members of the Nurse Corps received relative rank and, for the first time in history of the Corps, were authorized to wear the insignia of their various ranks from 2nd Lieut. to Major, and were given the rights and privileges of officers.

Attention: Mr. President

Note this typical pension case:

(Case No. 12)

Widow of a colonel who spent his adult life in the Army, was wounded in action in the Philippines and awarded the silver star medal for gallantry in action, and who also as a colonel commanded thirty-five hundred men in France during the World War, received the Distinguished Service Cross, received only $30.00 per month pension, which under the new pension laws has been cut to $15.00 per month. She was married to the officer in 1890.

Surely you will not permit the infliction of this hardship upon aged and deserving women.

The most outstanding rights and privileges which are still denied them are pay of the corresponding officer rank and mileage. However the Act gave them a definite status and improved their position materially. One of the greatest benefits enjoyed by the nurses as a result of receiving relative rank was inclusion in the privilege of taking courses at civilian institutions on full pay and allowances. There have been many other benefits and in general the position of the Corps has been greatly dignified and its administration simplified as a result of this definite recognition of their place in the military establishment. Retirement for length of service and retirement for disability are now rights of the Corps. They were obtained by special Acts of Congress in 1926 and 1930, respectively.

During the past few years marked changes have taken place in the housing condition of the Corps. Dignified new quarters have been erected at Walter Reed, Letterman, Fort Lewis, Fort Riley, Fort Bragg, Fort Benning and Fort Meade and great improvements have been made at a number of other stations. The standard new type of nurses quarters is highly satisfactory and is far more appropriate as a home for the professional women of the Army than has heretofore existed.

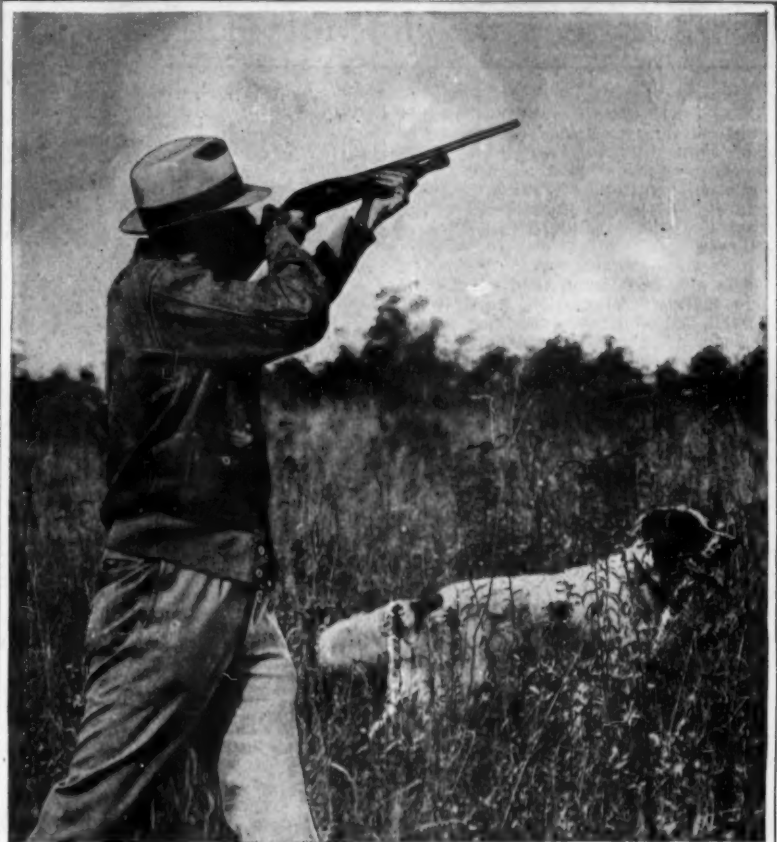

Standards for admission to the Corps have been steadily raised and with a greatly increased number of applications, young women of high qualifications only are being accepted. There is a growing tendency noted on the part of the Corps to take courses of all sorts and to make up preliminary educational limitations and to acquire credit toward college degrees.

A basic refresher course for the new members of the Corps is now required in all general hospitals in the United States.

The authorized strength of the Corps is now 820; 600 regulars and 220 reserves. The latter are employed for assistance in the care of Veterans Administration patients and are stationed mainly at general hospitals. The regular members of the Corps are on duty in 31 stations in the United States. They are also in the Philippines, Hawaii, Porto Rico and China.

Except for the period of the World War the history of the Corps has been relatively uneventful. It has, however, been characterized by steady growth and continued dependability and devotion to duty. The World War showed that the nursing profession was ready for any emergency and because of its cooperation the Nurse Corps of the Army added a brilliant page to the history of nursing. The Official History of the Medical Department of the U. S. Army in the World War gives details of the extension, mobilization, organization, activities, etc., of the Corps in Vol. XIII, but no history could recount the stories of individual fortitude under conditions of the greatest difficulty and the quiet devotion to duty that characterized all of the nearly 23 thousand nurses who served during that period wherever they were assigned both in the United States and the A. E. F.

The Army tradition in the Nurse Corps is carrying on and can be counted on for the future.

THE UNITED STATES ARMY

Name Hawaiian Air Fields

War Department General Orders promulgated this week officially designated five Army auxiliary flying fields in Hawaii. Each of the five are thus officially named after Army fliers who were holders of the Distinguished Service Cross and who were killed in France, as follows:

Bellows Field

The auxiliary flying field at Waimanalo Military Reservation, Territory of Hawaii, is designated as "Bellows Field," in honor of Second Lieutenant Franklin B. Bellows, 50th Aero Squadron. Lieutenant Bellows was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action near St. Mihiel, France. He was killed Sept. 13, 1918, while performing a reconnaissance mission.

Burns Field

The auxiliary flying field at Port Allen Military Reservation, Territory of Hawaii, is designated as "Burns Field," in honor of Second Lieutenant James S. D. Burns, 88th Aero Squadron. Lieutenant Burns was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action near Fismes, France. He was killed Aug. 11, 1918, while performing a photographic mission.

Suiter Field

The auxiliary flying field at Upolu Point Military Reservation, Territory of Hawaii, is designated as "Suiter Field," in honor of First Lieutenant Wilbur C. Suiter, 135th Aero Squadron. Lieutenant Suiter was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action near Villet-sur-Trey, France. He was killed Sept. 12, 1918, while performing a reconnaissance mission at low altitude over enemy territory.

Morse Field

The auxiliary flying field at South Point Military Reservation, Territory of Hawaii, is designated as "Morse Field," in honor of Second Lieutenant Guy E. Morse, 135th Aero Squadron. Lieutenant Morse was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action near Villet-sur-Trey, France. He was killed Sept. 12, 1918, while performing a reconnaissance mission at low altitude over enemy territory.

Putnam Field

The auxiliary flying field at Fort Shafter, Territory of Hawaii, is designated as "Putnam Field," in honor of First Lieutenant David E. Putnam, 139th Aero Squadron. Lieutenant Putnam was awarded the Cross of the Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre by the French Government, and the Distinguished Service Cross by the United States Government for extraordinary heroism in action near Lachaussee, France. He was killed Sept. 12, 1918, while in combat with seven Fokkers which had attacked an allied biplane.

Bolling Field Under 3rd CA

Orders have been issued by the War Department transferring Bolling Field, D. C., from the jurisdiction of the office of the Chief of Air Corps and placing it directly under the Third Corps Area Headquarters. Complete jurisdiction, however, is not given to the Third Corps Area Commander, the assignment of flying missions of officers on duty in the Office of the Chief of Air Corps continuing under that office and without reference to headquarters at Baltimore. It is also provided that the War Department may order officers upon flying missions without reference to the Third Corps Area.

If your elephant wants to ride on top IT'S ALL RIGHT WITH A CHEVROLET

We didn't actually plan on elephants when we chose the bodies for the new Chevrolet. But we did choose bodies rigid enough, and strong enough, to support six tons of elephant, or anything else you can name. Fisher bodies . . . steel bodies plus a hardwood frame . . . exactly the same type of bodies used on all 12 and 16 cylinder cars. Steel alone is not enough to make you as safe and secure as we want you to be in a Chevrolet. A steel body, welded into a solid wall of protection, plus resilient hardwood reinforcing to take up stress, absorb shocks and prevent the steel from following its natural tendency to buckle under pressure, makes the sturdiest body of all—the kind used on the Chevrolet, and on no other low-priced car. Remember that when you buy a car. Be sure to get all you pay for . . . the super-safety of a steel-plus-wood Fisher body.

To Celebrate Navy Day

Secretary of the Navy Swanson has announced that the Navy will cooperate with the Navy League of the United States in the observance of Navy Day on Friday, October 27th, and on that day the Navy, afloat and ashore, will be at home for receiving, entertaining and being inspected by the citizens of our country.

Following is a letter from Mr. N. M. Hubbard, President of the Navy League, to the Secretary of the Navy, requesting the cooperation of the Navy in the observance of Navy Day, and the reply of Admiral William H. Standley, USN, as Acting Secretary of the Navy:

Dear Mr. Secretary:

A most agreeable duty devolves upon me to inform you that the Navy League of the United States, aided as in past years by other patriotic, veterans' and civic societies, desires to sponsor the 12th annual observance of Navy Day on the 27th day of October of this year, and to ask that the Navy Department grant such cooperation in this observance as in the past and as you deem fitting and proper.

Since the date of its origin in 1922, at the instance and under the sponsorship of the Navy League, that observance has met with increasingly widespread participation over the country and we believe has brought home to our citizens a better knowledge and a more generous appreciation of the past and present value of the Navy to our Nation. It has served to call to mind the broad and varied services of the Navy, in time of peace, both in economic fields, in commanding respect for the just rights of our Nation and its nationals abroad, and as a stabilizer of both world and national peace; and in time of war the efficient performance of its major duty in the restoration of an honorable peace.

The past years these observances have elicited favorable editorial comment from a great number of the press of the country. For several years last past such observances have had the active cooperation of over one hundred and fifty radio broadcasting stations, including chains of the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System. The Governors of a large majority of States and the Mayors of hundreds of our cities have issued proclamations or statements of the occasion. Several thousands of civic clubs, schools and churches have offered programs designed to forward the purpose of the observance. Through all these avenues of publicity a better understanding of the Navy and its varied problems has come about.

The opportunity these observances give to the officers and enlisted men of the Regular and Reserve Services and the Naval Militia of various States to meet and talk with civilians on such occasions has contributed to these benefits and the occasion to clearly define these important services of the Navy and needs of the Navy for their proper performance through public addresses, by speakers qualified to define them, has met and we venture to hope will continue to meet a duty both to the public and to the Navy not otherwise so suitably performed.

Awaiting an expression of your pleasure in the matter, I am

Sincerely yours,

(s) N. M. HUBBARD, Jr.,

My dear Mr. Hubbard:

I am gratified to know that the Navy League of the United States will again observe October 27 as Navy Day and I appreciate your request that the Navy Department cooperate in connection with the League's activities on that date.

The Navy appreciates the interest the Navy League has taken in our service and I assure you that on Navy Day, Friday, October 27th, the public will be welcome on board naval vessels in port and in naval establishments on shore and that we shall all be glad to do whatever lies in our power to acquaint our citizens with all sea services.

Navy Day, which has been observed for the past eleven years on October 27th through the assistance of the Navy League and other patriotic and civic organizations, has brought to the American people a better understanding of the purposes, activities and needs of the Navy, its maintenance as the first line of defense of the nation, and its continued efforts to preserve the peace of the world by the friendly cultivation of international relations.

I wish at this time also to express our appreciation of the Navy League's earnest and unselfish interest in the Navy, not only in sponsoring Navy Day for many years but also in spreading information of interest on subjects that are of paramount importance to the defense of our shores and our commerce.

With most cordial regards, believe me, I am

Very sincerely yours,

(s) W. H. STANDLEY

Admiral, U. S. Navy
Acting Secretary of the Navy."

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1933

"... Exaggerated confidence in our country's greatness . . . tends to a disregard of national safety. . . ."—GROVER CLEVELAND.

THE RISING COST OF LIVING, produced by the advance in prices promoted by the NRA, justifies the expectation that President Roosevelt will remit the 15% pay cut. Throughout the country there is criticism of the policy requiring private employers to lift wages when the greatest employer of all—Uncle Sam—is not only not raising pay but is actually enforcing reduced pay scales. Moreover, the statistics of the Department of Labor show a rise in the cost of living which is getting out of hand, and these statistics, be it remembered, do not always reflect the higher prices which must be paid, particularly by members of the Services, who are not in a position to shop as are the civilians resident of large cities. We are told the President has come to appreciate the hardships which the pay cut, coupled with the increased cost of living, has imposed, and that in basing our 1935 budget on 100 per cent salaries he is actually anticipating payment on that basis. Doubtless his attitude has been influenced by the criticism and the action of the National Federation of Government Employees, which held its convention in Kansas City this week, and which adopted resolutions not only for the cancellation of the pay cut but for increased pay and for the abolition of the pay freeze. But whatever the responsible cause for the President's changed view,—and we prefer to believe it is attributable to his understanding of the effect of rising prices—it must be a matter of concern that the hardships from which the Services are suffering in consequence of the pay cut and pay freeze will be accentuated by the government policy which is increasing costs to consumers.

A MEMBER OF THE ICKES PUBLIC WORKS BOARD tells us that that organization has recommended to the President the allocation of $303,000,000 for expenditure by the Army. This money would be used for housing, mechanization, motorization, modernization and air expansion. The Board's insistence upon the program, which is substantially that presented by Secretary Dern and General MacArthur, is due to its better understanding of the needs of the Service and to its desire to have the small nucleus of our land defense as modern in equipment as any in the world. Included in the recommendation of the Board is the entire housing program, cost $135,000,000, recommended by the Chief of Staff. The President has stated that he intends to redistribute the Army, and it was in accordance with this suggestion that Secretary Ickes originally proposed a reduction in the MacArthur schedule of housing authorization. The fact that the Board now has submitted the estimate of the Chief of Staff for approval indicates that Mr. Roosevelt, as a result of the consideration he has given the matter, is disposed to rely upon the judgment of the responsible officer of the Army, which is as it should be. Although more than one-third of the public works authorization of $3,300,000,000 has been allotted by Secretary Ickes, it is estimated that not more than 15,000 men have been put to work, and there is doubt that any additions of importance are likely before the winter comes. In the case of the Army, the money allowed could be immediately used, since the Quartermaster Department, as well as the other departments concerned, with their usual preparedness, are ready to hire men immediately to start the work ordered.

INCLUDED IN THE RECOMMENDATION OF SECRETARY ICKES is approval of the expenditure of funds for airplanes for the Army, as well as the necessary technical housing therefor. The total amount involved for the Air Service is approximately $80,000,000, and if it be granted by the President, as in all likelihood it will be, it will assure the provision of an American air force which will be potentially the best in the world. What is gratifying in this matter is the fact that the civilian branch of the Government is showing a willingness to accept the views adopted after careful study by the General Staff and is cooperating with it to supply the country with an incomparable military air defense. General MacArthur, we understand, also united with General Foulis, Chief of the Air Corps, to induce the Department of Commerce to keep the airways in first class condition and to improve them, and the air authorities further are showing their appreciation of the value of civilian pilots by soliciting their membership in the organized reserves and by following with close attention the code being adopted for the air industry. That code, as James T. Williams, jr., the able editorial writer for the Hearst press has pointed out, should exclude air pilots from its provisions just as all other professional men are excluded from codes. Mr. Williams thoughtful discussion of the air as well as other problems of National Defense, is largely influencing the trend of public opinion and unquestionably will play a part in the decision which Congress, if not the President, will make.

CUBA'S INTERNECINE STRIFE AND THE OBLIGATIONS of the United States in connection therewith call attention again to the grave mistakes of the Government during the past few years in reducing the strength of the Marine Corps and in contemplating the reduction of the personnel of the Army and the Navy. Fortunately, the obsession respecting the Army and Navy has been eliminated, and there is now no likelihood of any steps of that kind being taken. The Marine Corps, however, continues below the strength it should have in order to protect American interests in disturbed countries of Latin-America. As an indication of its inability to perform the important missions with which it is charged, it has at the naval station at Guantanamo a command inadequate to provide the requisite protection, and reinforcements must be sent without delay. The President and Congress should act promptly to increase the Corps and thus enable it to protect American interests.

He Knows

The squad was having "visual training." One smart recruit was asked by the officer to count how many men composed a digging party in a distant field. The party was so far away that the men appeared as mere dots, but unhesitatingly the recruit replied:

"Sixteen men and a sergeant, sir."

"Right; but how do you know there's a sergeant there?"

"He's not doing any digging, sir."

A. R. W.—There has been no change in the provision of law that classified service in Hawaii during the World War for eligibility for adjusted service certificates. This service is classed in the same category as service in the United States and the $1.00 a day rate is assigned to it.

E. D.—The Water Transport Division of the Quartermaster General's office informs us that service personnel may not take animals upon Army transports. It is possible, however, to send pets on War Department freight vessels upon change of station. Authority for such transport should be made by the officer to the Quartermaster General and arrangements made with the Superintendent of the Army Transport Service at the point of embarkation. These arrangements would involve the paying a member of the crew of the freight vessels to care for the animal en route.

H. R. C.—Upon consultation with the Office of the Chief of Finance, we find that if your husband's regular pay, exclusive of the fifteen per cent pay cut, was $105 per month, the deduction of $94.50 from the six months' death gratuity was correct. The Comptroller General has decided that the fifteen per cent pay cut should apply to the death gratuity which in your case would amount to $94.50. While there is some doubt of the legality of the Comptroller's decision, the only way in which it may be reviewed would be taking the matter to the courts.

SERVICE NEWS AND GOSSIP

Brothers Command Outstanding CCC Camps—Brothers, the sons of an Army officer, were commanders of two widely separated CCC camps each of which were adjudged the most outstanding companies in their respective Corps Areas, and each will receive one of the Gold Medals offered by the Army and Navy Journal. Maj. Alexander N. Stark, jr., Inf., USA, commands CCC Company No. 2414, near Sumpster, S. C., which was selected as the most outstanding in the 4th Corps Area, while his brother, Capt. Thomas N. Stark, Inf., USA, commands CCC Company No. 1921, at Wolf Creek Camp, Eugene District, Ore., which was selected as the most outstanding in the 9th Corps Area.

The Stark brothers are the sons of the late Col. Alexander N. Stark, who died in Hollywood, Calif., on May 8, 1926. Colonel Stark served in the Army Medical Corps for more than 32 years with distinction. He entered the service in May, 1893 and was retired on account of physical disability in August, 1925. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal "for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished services" as chief surgeon of the 1st Army, American Expeditionary Forces, and also the following awards, French Legion of Honor, French Medaille de Honneur des Epidemies de Vermell and the Italian Order of Dei Santi Maurizio, E. Lazzaro, Ufficiali. His widow, mother of the two winning officers, resides in Washington, D. C., at the Blitmore Apartments.

NRA Employment of Retired Officers—Regarding the reemployment of retired military personnel by the National Recovery Administration the Comptroller General this week ruled as follows: "The National Recovery Administration may employ retired enlisted personnel, who have been retired on enlisted service only, and fix their rates of compensation for such civilian service on the same basis as that for any other officer or employee without restriction other than the value of the services and such employees would be entitled to continue to receive their retired pay."

"The National Recovery Administration may employ retired commissioned and warrant officers of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, and Coast and Geodetic Survey, who were retired for 'injuries incurred in battle or for injuries or incapacity incurred in line of duty,' but with the exception of those 'retired for disability incurred in combat with an enemy of the United States' whose rate of compensation for civilian service may be fixed without regard to the restrictions of the dual compensation statutes, the rate of compensation paid for such civilian service when combined with the rate of retired pay received, may not exceed $3,000 per annum."

"The National Recovery Administration may employ retired commissioned or warrant officers who were retired for causes other than disability, that is, after 30 years' service or for age, only if the rate of retired pay and the rate of compensation fixed for the civilian office or position are each less than $2,500 per annum, but under section 212 of the Economy Act the officer or employee in such case could actually receive a combined rate of retired pay and civilian compensation not in excess of $3,000 per annum."

"The National Recovery Administration may not employ retired commissioned or warrant officers who were retired for causes other than disability incurred in line of duty if the rate of either the retired pay or the compensation fixed for the civilian position is $2,500 per annum or more."

"B" Board Appointed—War Department Special Orders this week announced the appointment of the board of general officers for the purpose of making classification of officers under the provisions of section 24b, chapter 1, of the National Defense Act. The board will meet in Washington at 10 a.m., Monday, Sept. 25, 1933, and at such other times thereafter as the senior member shall prescribe.

Those named on the board are: Maj. Gen. Dennis E. Nolan, Maj. Gen. William D. Connor, Maj. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, Brig. Gen. Lucius R. Holbrook, Brig. Gen. William E. Cole, Brig. Gen. Joseph P. Tracy and Brig. Gen. Ernest D. Scott.

Computation of Service for Retirement—Pending revision of AR 35-1760, the War Department announces the following synopsis of a decision of the Comptroller General of the United States is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

Under the Act of May 29, 1928 (45 Stat 906), authorizing officers of the Medical Corps of the Army to count active duty performed as a contract surgeon in computing length of service for purposes of retirement to the same extent as service under a Regular Army commission, retired officers of the Medical Corps of the Army, appointed under the Act of June 4, 1920 (41 Stat. 767), at an age greater than forty-five years, and limited upon retirement by section 24 of the Act, id. 771, to receive retired pay at the rate of 4 per centum of active pay for each complete year of commissioned service in the United States Army, not exceeding 75 per centum, are entitled, on and after May 29, 1928, to add to such "commissioned service in the United States Army" their service as contract surgeons in the computation of the percentage of active pay they shall receive as retired pay.

Roosevelt Board to Meet—The Roosevelt Reorganization Board will meet at the Navy Department on Monday, Sept. 11, and plans for further study will be formed. Since the Board recessed early in the summer, members have been studying the subcommittee reports and it is expected that some definite ideas on amalgamation of corps and bureaus will be aired at that time. None of the group however, looks for an early conclusion, most of them stating that they expect it will be many weeks before they will have a final report ready for the Secretary of the Navy. The Board was appointed last April to consider the questions of reorganization of the Navy Department and possible amalgamation of the Marine Corps and Staff Corps with the Line of the Navy.

Col. Edgerton Assigned as Chief, River and Harbor Section—Lt. Col. Glen E. Edgerton, CE, USA, has been assigned as Chief of the River and Harbor Section, Office Chief of Engineers, in Washington. Colonel Edgerton has recently arrived from Rock Island, Illinois, where since December, 1930, he was District Engineer of the Rock Island District and had charge of improvement work on the Mississippi River between the Illinois and Wisconsin Rivers.

As Chief of the River and Harbor Section in the Office of the Chief of Engineers, he will have the responsibility of administering the important engineering work of improving and maintaining waterways in the Rivers, Harbors and Canals over the United States. Before going to Rock Island, Colonel Edgerton had been at West Point as Assistant Professor of Civil and Military Engineering. Between 1925 and 1929 he was Chief Engineer of the Federal Power Commission with station in Washington. During the World War, Colonel Edgerton commanded the 214th Engineers and was Division Engineer of the 14th Division. Colonel Edgerton replaces Col. John J. Kingman who has been assigned as District Engineer at Providence, R. I.

Chief of Staff, 77th Division—Col. Conrad S. Babcock, GSC, USA, at present Chief of Staff of the Panama Canal Department, will become Chief of Staff of the 77th Division, the principal Organized Reserve body of New York City. He is to succeed Col. Wallace B. Scales, ordered to duty with the First Cavalry Division at Ft. Clark, Tex.

The new Regular Army head of New York's Reserve Division was appointed to West Point from New York City in 1894 and during his long Army service was awarded the Silver Star three times for gallantry in action. During the World War he was decorated with the Distinguished Service Medal for outstanding accomplishments as commander of the 354th Infantry at St. Mihiel and in the Meuse Argonne and as post commandant at A. E. F. Headquarters.

In Paris after the Armistice he commanded the Third Army Composite Regiment and acted as escort for General Pershing in the Victory Parades in Paris, London, New York, and Washington.

Naval Officers on CCC Duty—Should the Civilian Conservation Corps be disbanded next spring at the conclusion of the second six month period, naval officers on duty at the forest camps will be returned to their former stations, Rear Adm. William D. Leahy, Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, told the Journal this week.

"If the camps are closed next April, we will have enough money to pay them for the remainder of the year," he stated, "The officers will be returned to the former stations. As for next year, we will have to get additional money in next year's budget. It certainly should be given to us. We haven't enough officers to man the ships we have now in time of war. Of course we have more than are necessary for the peace-time fleet, but if you are going to judge your needs by what is necessary during peace-time, you could get rid of five thousand officers. The only time you need any of them is in war."

Admiral Leahy stated that there are no plans at all for elimination of any officers at the end of CCC camps, it being contemplated that the officers will all return to naval duties then. At the time the officers were assigned to forestry duty, the House Naval Affairs Committee was considering legislation recommended by the Navy Department to permit the involuntary retirement of officers. Assignment to the JCC with funds for their pay coming from Emergency Relief appropriations was accomplished and the hearings upon the proposed legislation were stopped.

Army Foreign Service—New Army regulations governing foreign service tours will be promulgated shortly. Like the Navy, the Army will hold that the three year foreign service tour now required by law for duty in the Philippines, China, Hawaii, Porto Rico or the Canal Zone dates from the day of departure from the continental limits of the United States and closes with the date of arrival back in the continental United States.

Provisions are made for extensions of one year making a total of four years and then of additional one year extensions making a total of five years. Medical certifications must accompany both applications.

General officers who return to the United States "in the public interest" are privileged to bring with them members of their personal staff regardless of the time they have been abroad.

FILM GOT IT!

*and a million dollars
couldn't put it back!*

Caution: To save lovely teeth—fight film

FILM... what is it? A soft, sticky mass that stains teeth an ugly yellow. Food particles cling to it. The mineral salts in saliva combine with film and form hard, irritating tartar that makes gums bleed.

Film's greatest damage is done through tooth decay. In film are tiny, rod-shaped germs... Lactobacilli. These germs produce strong acid. This acid eats away the tooth enamel just as other acids eat into cloth or wood. Deeper and deeper goes the acid until the nerve is reached... the root canal infected... and unless repaired, results may well prove tragic.

To fight film use Pepsodent instead of ordinary tooth pastes. Why? Because Pepsodent contains a special film-removing substance that is one of the great discoveries of the day. Its power to remove every trace of film-stain is revolutionary! Its notable distinction of being twice as soft as other materials in common use has gained wide recognition.

And so, when tempted to try cheap and ineffective tooth pastes, remember the one safe way to fight film is to use the special film-removing tooth paste—Pepsodent. Use Pepsodent twice a day and see your dentist at least twice every year.

Pepsodent—is the special film-removing tooth paste

CCC's As "Technical Foremen"

The following War Department letter relative to the discharge of enrolled CCC personnel in order to permit their appointment to positions of technical foremen is being sent to corps area commanders:

1. Your attention is invited to the following letter from the Acting Forester to the Director, Emergency Conservation Work, dated Aug. 24, 1933:

"Reference is made to our telephone conversation of August 22 during which I stated that a telegram from our Regional Forester at Missoula indicates that, due to opening up of lumber operations and the schools in North Idaho, they are losing some of their technical foremen on blister rust crews and that no other source of replacements is now in sight than the more experienced and capable enrolled men. It is the Regional Forester's recommendation that the present prohibition against promoting enrolled men beyond the $36 and $45 places be removed, in order that these highly important foremen positions may be filled by the promotion of men now in the enrolled force who have, from the experience so far gained, demonstrated ability to help direct this work.

"It is believed that the present general policy which prohibits promotion of enrolled men except to the $36 and $45 positions should be changed in favor of a general policy to permit such promotions to any of the technical and supervisory positions authorized for Emergency Conservation Work for which enrolled men demonstrate their ability.

"It is further recommended that enrolled men be released to take supervisory or technical positions on NRA work. This would seem only fair to enrolled men competent for higher paid jobs.

2. The Director, Emergency Conservation Work, on August 24, 1933, approved the recommendations of the Acting Forester. It is therefore announced that enrolled men may be discharged for the purpose of accepting foremen's positions in Emergency Conservation Work. The discharge in such cases will be held to have been made under the provisions of paragraph 24a CCC Regulations, Provisional, War Department, 1933.

The award was based on the following weights which were assigned by the Board of Officers to the points covered in the War Department scoring system. (See letter AG 324.5-CCC (7-21-33) Misc. C, August 2, 1933.) It will be noted that under paragraph 4a (2) of above letter, the Board has assigned certain weights to the various sub-heads under the War Department heading "Camp Administration and operation."

| CCC Personnel | (80) | 76 |
| c. Work | 300 | 285 |
| Total | 1000 | 928 |

With reference to the selection of the 2205th Company, the Board was especially impressed with the following:

a. The cleanliness, neatness and uniform arrangement of the camp.

b. The maximum utilization of the welfare facilities furnished by the War Department which made for the comfort and contentment of the personnel.

c. The establishment by the company commander of company schools for instruction in sanitation and hygiene, care and use of tools, manual training.

d. The quantity and quality of the work being performed, the manner of its supervision by leaders and officers and the small company overhead, thus ensuring that the maximum numbers of men were turned out for work projects.

The 2205th Company is composed of war veterans from the States of New York, New Jersey and Delaware. It was organized at Plattsburg Barracks, N. Y., and was established in camp near Montpelier, Vt., on July 29, 1933. The company is one of a group of companies of the 6th CCC District, 1st Army Corps Area, engaged in flood control work along the Winooski River. The 6th CCC District is commanded by Colonel Clement A. Trott, Regular Army Infantry. The 2205th Company is one of six companies located at Camp Cushing, which is commanded by Major A. S. Kuegle, Regular Army Infantry.

Captain Bacon

Captain Bacon was one of about 90 Marine Corps officers ordered to report to the Secretary of War for Civilian Conservation Corps duty last June. At that time Captain Bacon was in command at the Marine Barracks, Naval Ammunition Depot, Dover, N. J.

Captain Bacon was born at South Bend, Ind., Sept. 19, 1884. He served in the Marines as an enlisted man and as a warrant officer prior to the World War. On July 15, 1918, he was appointed a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve later receiving his commission in the regular active service reaching his present grade of captain on June 29, 1930. His record shows that he has been commander of several small Marine Corps posts, one being that at South Charleston, W. Va. He also has had service at Port au Prince, and Cape Haitien, Haiti, Quantico, Va., where he was graduated from the Company Officers School in 1929, and in Nicaragua. It was upon his return from Nicaragua that he was assigned to duty at New York.

Maj. Gen. Ben H. Fuller, Commandant of the Marine Corps, was highly pleased with the achievement of the member of his corps. "I have noted with great satisfaction," he said this week, "that Captain Bacon's company has been selected as the most outstanding in the First Corps Area and that he will receive the ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL's medal for his distinction."

Captain Bacon in a letter to the Editor of the JOURNAL this week attributes the success of his company to those under him, saying:

"My Camp is situated about five miles North of Montpelier, Vt., on a branch of the Winooski River. The project under construction is a large dam and spillway to eliminate any future possibility of a flood catastrophe such as happened there in 1927. There are six companies in this camp, working on this project; and it is contemplated that, with the present methods, it will take two years to complete.

"The enrollees of my company are from the State of New Jersey, and I have found them willing and efficient in their work, and obedient to those placed in authority over them. I attribute the success of this organization to the loyalty, efficiency and hard work of my subordinate officers, to the regular enlisted Army personnel, and to the fine spirit shown by the enrollees, who have all worked most faithfully to make this the outstanding company of the First Corps Area."

The other company officers are 1st Lt. George E. Elliott, Inf, USA, and 2nd Lt. Richard S. Freeman, AC, USA.

Lieutenant Elliott

Lieutenant Elliott was born in Washington, D. C., March 12, 1903. He entered the United States Military Academy from Delaware in 1920, was graduated and commissioned a second lieutenant of Infantry June 12, 1924. He served two years at Ft. Eustis, Va., with the 34th Infantry. Later he served a tour of three years in the Panama Canal Zone and in 1929 was ordered to the 28th Infantry, at Ft. Niagara, N. Y., where he was on duty when assigned to the CCC. He was promoted to be a first Lieutenant Dec. 31, 1929.

Lieutenant Freeman

Lieutenant Freeman was born in Wilmam, Ind., June 22, 1907. He entered West Point in 1926, was graduated June 12, 1930, and commissioned in the Infantry, but detailed in the Air Corps. He was graduated from the Air Corps Primary Flying School in 1931, and the Advanced School, Bombardment Course, the same year. He is rated as an Air Pilot. He was transferred to the Air Corps Dec. 22, 1931.

No Chaplain or Medical officer is attached to the company, but 1st Lt. Joseph S. Ryzek, Chap-Res, Lt. (Jg) Charles B. Stringfellow (MC), USN, and Dr. Frank A. Mack, contract surgeon, are attached to Camp Cushing headquarters. Dr. Mack relieved 1st Lt. Nicholas F. Vincent, Med-Res, who was transferred to Ft. Ethan Allen, Aug. 22.

Chaplain Ryzek

Chaplain Ryzek comes from Fall River, Mass. Since the establishment of the CCC camps he has been on active duty at Montpelier. It is probable that he will be an applicant for the first vacancy that occurs for a Roman Catholic chaplain in the Regular Army.

Lieutenant Stringfellow

Lieutenant Stringfellow entered the Navy July 16, 1928, from Virginia. He has completed the General Postgraduate Course at the Navy Medical School and prior to going to the CCC was on duty at the School.

The enlisted men on duty with the company are 1st Sgt. James L. Barry, Sgt. John C. Duncan and Cpl. Robert M. Major.

Sergeant Barry

Sergeant Barry enlisted Aug. 9, 1919, at Columbus Barracks, Ohio, but had previously served with the 108th Infantry from 1916 to 1919. He has served in the 44th Co., CAC; in Battery F, 13th FA, Headquarters Battery, 2nd Battalion, 7th Field Artillery. He was on duty with the latter organization at Madison Barracks, N. Y., when he was assigned to CCC duty. He was born in Oswego, N. Y., April 25, 1897.

Sergeant Duncan

Sergeant Duncan was born in Barclay, Pa., May 31, 1889. He enlisted in Company B, 22nd Infantry, Feb. 24, 1917, serving until 1924 when he was honorably discharged as a sergeant. He again enlisted the following year and served since with the 28th Infantry at Ft. Ontario, N. Y., until going on CCC duty.

Corporal Major

Corporal Major was born at Moosic, Pa., May 5, 1891. He enlisted June 5, 1919, and has served virtually continuously ever since. He was on duty with the 28th Infantry at Ft. Ontario, N. Y., at the time of his present detail.

The official roster of the company as of Aug. 23, 1933, the date of its inspection which led to its selection is as follows:

This Week—

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt returned to Washington from the West Coast to find himself injected into the Cuban outbreak. I am told this official made a glowing report to the President on the condition of the Fleet. However, let us hope authority will be given for the resumption of the extensive maneuvers which economy curtailed. Only through them can the efficiency of the Sea Service be maintained.

A fitting reward for able, earnest and faithful service has come to Brig. Gen. Dion Williams, Marine Corps, who has been selected for the vacancy in the grade of Major General. General Williams will retire in December. His appointment establishes a precedent under which this Administration can promote deserving officers, although on the eve of retirement. It is a generous thing you are doing, Mr. President.

Czaristic as the Comptroller General usually is, there are limits to his power as he has discovered. He cut a per diem allowance to the Army, claiming that after a month temporary became permanent duty. Under General MacArthur's direction, the matter was referred to the Attorney General. That official upheld the right of the War Department to determine what is and what is not temporary duty. So much for that, Mr. Comptroller General!

Aviation Machinist's Mate H. H. McPherron has been awarded a cake for making the 18,000th landing on the Saratoga. Admiral Halligan, in presenting the cake, said: "We're making better landings than we did in the old days. Yes, and better cakes, too."

International Air Races

Lt. Comdr. Thomas G. W. Settle, USN, and Lt. (jg) Charles H. Kendall, USN, pilot and aide, of the Navy's entry in the International Balloon Race, landed at Pine Orchard, Conn., eleven miles east of New Haven, at 4:45 P. M., Monday, Sept. 4. While two of the entrants have not been located as yet, it is believed that the Navy team won the event.

Rear Adm. Wat T. Cluverius, USN, Commandant of the 9th Naval District, Great Lakes, Illinois, reported to Admiral William H. Standley, USN, Chief of Naval Operations, that the performance of the Marine Air Detachment under command of Lt. Col. Ross E. Howell, U. S. Marine Corps, at the International Air Races "has won highest acclaim."

"The daring of the personnel reflected much credit on the Marine Corps," he said, "and unquestioned prestige has been added to the Naval Service."

The two Marine aviation squadrons VF-9M and VO-7M from Quantico, Va., gave demonstrations at Chicago of maneuvers and tactical operations used to cover a landing force.

LANGLEY SCORES VICTORY

Langley Field, Va.—With "Hoot" Hohns and "Ace" Thomas giving masterful performances on the hill, Lieut. Ent's Gold and Blue Airmen of Langley Field scored a 4 to 0 shut out over the First Battalion of the USMA here recently.

National Anthems

Rescinding Bulletin No. 27, the War Department has promulgated a new bulletin, No. 11, 1933, setting forth the National Anthems of the various countries and the source of correct musical transcriptions of them.

Nat. Guard for West Point

The admission of candidates from the National Guard to the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., is the subject of a letter being sent by Maj. Gen. James F. McKinley, The Adjutant General, to the Governors of the various States.

The letter follows:

"The regulations for the selection of enlisted men of the National Guard for appointment to the United States Military Academy provide that the candidates shall be apportioned among the States, Territories, and the District of Columbia according to the enlisted strength of their respective National Guard organizations. Candidates from the States and Territories will be selected by the respective Governors thereof from successful competitors in a preliminary examination of a scope and nature similar to the regular examination for entrance to the Military Academy, to be instituted and conducted by the Governors, and to be held between November 1 and November 15 of each year. Under the statute authorizing these appointments, the Governors are restricted in their choice of candidates to enlisted men of the National Guard who conform to the requirements mentioned.

"To be eligible for appointment from the National Guard, an applicant must be an enlisted man of a unit recognized by the Federal Government. He must, on the date of admission, July 2, 1934, have served as an enlisted man not less than one year, must be between the ages of nineteen and twenty-two years and must be not less than five feet four inches in height. The age and service requirements are statutory and cannot be waived or modified, but it is not essential that the service be continuous, so that former service in the Guard may be counted in determining an applicant's eligibility. Similarly, service with a National Guard organization prior to its recognition by the Federal Government may be considered, the date of enlistment of the soldier governing, and not that of the recognition of the unit. The requirements for admission to the Military Academy are fully set forth in the inclosed pamphlet, a supply of which is being sent to you under separate cover for distribution to those concerned.

"The candidates so selected will be authorized by the War Department to report for the regular entrance examination, which is scheduled to be held beginning on March 6, 1934, and the appointments available on July 2, 1934, will be awarded to the qualified candidates in the order of merit established at that examination, which is competitive among all National Guard candidates. In view of the competitive feature involved, failure for any cause to report for examination at that time and place designated will vacate the appointment.

"You are therefore requested to select, in accordance with the foregoing, one candidate from among the enlisted men of the National Guard of your State, and to designate him for the entrance examination mentioned, using therefor the inclosed blank forms. These cadetships being awarded as a result of competition, alternates cannot be considered. There is no limitation to the number who may compete in the preliminary examination and it is suggested that this matter be widely advertised throughout the National Guard organizations of your State, so that every enlisted man who is eligible as to age and length of service may be afforded this great opportunity.

"In the past, some States have failed to take advantage of the opportunity to designate candidates, while other States have designated their full quotas and are constantly asking for the privilege of making more appointments. As a result, it has been decided to require that designations shall be made promptly following the November preliminary examinations, and in no case later than December 15, 1933. When sending in your designations, it is requested that you inform the Department as to the number of other desirable candidates, if any, you may have available. The allotments of those States which allow the opportunity to lapse through failure to fill their quotas by December 15, 1933, will be given to other States."

MOWW Convention

The Military Order of the World War, made up of officers of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps who served during the World War, will hold their annual convention at the Congress Hotel in Chicago, Ill., Sept. 28, 29 and 30.

In the ranks of this organization are found many officers still in active service, numbered among whom are Gen. Douglas MacArthur (a former Commander-in-Chief), Chief of Staff; Adm. Wm. H. Standley (of the D. C. Chapter), Chief of Naval Operations, and Maj. Gen. Ben H. Fuller, Commandant of the U. S. Marine Corps (also of the D. C. Chapter).

It will be recalled that the Military Order took a very aggressive and outstanding part in the interest of the Army and Navy appropriations during the past year.

The records indicate extensive appearances of their Legislative Committee before the Appropriations Committee and the Service Committee of the House of Representatives and the Senate. Their activities were of a business nature in the interest of their brothers still in service.

Maj. Gen. Frank B. Parker and Rear Adm. Wat T. Cluverius will assist the local Chicago chapter in acting as hosts to the convention delegates. They will be prominent at the instructive ceremonies at Ft. Dearborn Thursday afternoon and will be among the speakers, together with Governor Horner, of Illinois, at the banquet Friday evening. USMA '04 Class Meets

Members of the United States Military Academy class of 1904 who are in Washington met for luncheon Wednesday at the Army and Navy Club at which plans were discussed for the 30th reunion to be held next June at West Point.

The members are particularly desirous of getting in touch with all graduates and former members of the class or of any who were at any time members of the class in order to make the reunion as successful as possible. Anyone knowing of members of the class who would not be likely to be reached otherwise are requested to get in touch either with Lt. Col. Chauncey Fenton at West Point, who is in charge of the arrangements there, or with Lt. Col. Irving J. Philipson, GSC, War Department, who is chairman of the Washington committee.

West Point Athletics

West Point, N. Y.—Following the tradition at the U. S. Military Academy here, the academic year opened on Sept. 1st and along with it the fall athletic and military training activities. Lt. Garrison H. Davidson, head football coach, with his staff of assistants, started moulding a team from the 100 cadets who reported for football practice. The plebe squad, with 124 candidates turning out, is coached by Lt. "Blondy" Saunders.

The varsity team suffered severely by graduation, losing 8 players of last year's starting line-up. "Jabbo" Jablonsky, captain and guard, "T. N. T." Brown, halfback, and "Pete" Kopcsak, end, last season's regulars, will form a nucleus around which Davidson will build his team. The second string from last year will be intact except for a quarterback, and will furnish Winn and Hutchison, tackles; Gooch and Stillman, guards; Bucknam, center; Edwards, Burlingame and Lawlor, ends; and Stancok, Buckler, and Johnson, backs. Davidson stated that this year's team will be one of the lightest ever to represent the Military Academy.

At the present time the prospects of getting any first-string material from last year's plebes seems quite remote, as only Shuler, a tackle, Grove and Nazzaro, backs, and Vincent, a center, give promise of making the A squad.

Because of military drills, practice sessions will be held for only 40 minutes on Mondays and Fridays and 1 hour and 40 minutes the remaining days of the week during the season.

The complete schedule is:
 Sept. 30—Mercer University.
 Oct. 7—Virginia Military Institute.
 Oct. 14—University of Delaware.
 Oct. 21—University of Illinois (at Cleveland, O.).

Oct. 28—Yale (at New Haven).
 Nov. 4—Coe College.
 Nov. 11—Harvard (at Cambridge).
 Nov. 18—Penn. Military College.
 Nov. 25—Navy (at Philadelphia).
 Dec. 2—Notre Dame (at New York).

MERCHANT MARINE

N. R. A. Shipping Code

Rear Adm. Hutch I. Cone, USN-Ret., Chairman of the Advisory Committee of the Shipping Board Bureau, U. S. Department of Commerce, invited a number of the country's representative steamship men to meet Deputy Administrator William H. Davis, of the National Recovery Administration, for preliminary discussion of a proposed shipping code at a meeting held at the office of the Shipping Board Bureau, Sept. 7, at 10.30 a. m.

Prominent steamship interests along the Atlantic, Gulf, and Pacific coasts are understood to be working on a code which they expect to submit to the Recovery Administration in the near future. It is believed that a preliminary exchange of views at this time will be helpful in smoothing the way for the formal hearings which will be initiated after the code is presented.

Deputy Administrator Davis announced that he has arranged a similar meeting through Mr. Joseph P. Ryan with a committee of the International Longshoremen's Association. He also announced that Mr. Victor A. Olander, Vice President of the International Seamen's Union, has been appointed by the Labor Advisory Board of the National Recovery Administration to advise Mr. Davis on labor questions in connection with the shipping code.

Major Crosby's New Book

Maj. Percy Crosby, U. S. Marine Corps Reserve, creator of the famous little philanthropic urchin "Skippy," whose antics are followed by thousands of readers day after day, has just announced the publication of a new book entitled "Always Belittlin'"—the third book which he himself has published at McLean, Va. In addition to more than twenty-five full page cartoons, this handsome volume, size eleven by fourteen inches, with stiff covers, contains serious and humorous writings. It is designed throughout by the author and a generous portion is devoted to "Skippy's" refreshing and delightful philosophizing with his father on current topics, in a chapter entitled "Skippy and His Pop Whistle the Patter."

Unlike the other two books Major Crosby published himself, this new book does not deal with prohibition but rather is an urgent appeal for adequate national defense.

The first chapter is entitled "Are America's Bleating Prides for World Peace a Confession of Publicness Which Merely Attract the Wolves to the Flock?"

It is a book that will appeal to old and young alike—a book that will startle you, intrigue you and yet make you laugh. It will be off the press Oct. 1 and will sell for $2.00.

FINANCE

Financial Digest

The daily average volume of Federal Reserve bank credit outstanding during the week ended Aug. 30, as reported by the Federal Reserve banks, was $2,267,000,000, an increase of $24,000,000 compared with the preceding week and a decrease of $64,000,000 compared with the corresponding week in 1932.

On Aug. 30 total Reserve bank credit amounted to $2,298,000,000, an increase of $40,000,000 for the week. This increase corresponds with an increase of $26,000,000 in unexpended capital funds, nonmember deposits, etc., and a decrease of $19,000,000 in Treasury currency, adjusted, offset in part by a decrease of $5,000,000 in member bank reserve balances.

Bills discounted increased $3,000,000 at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and a like amount at all Federal Reserve banks. The System's holdings of bills bought in open market show practically no change for the week. Holdings of United States Treasury notes increased $12,000,000 and of Treasury certificates and bills $24,000,000, while those of United States bonds decreased $1,000,000.

Naval Forces For Cuba

Squadron Ten, assembled at Newport, R. I., with Naval Reservists on board and engaged in regular Naval Reserve cruises, to proceed immediately to their ports of embarkation and disembark all Naval Reservists at those ports. As soon as this is accomplished, these vessels will proceed to their regular ports along the coast where they will fill their complements of regular officers and men.

It was stated at the Navy Department that this order was necessary in order that vessels may be prepared in case any further ships might be needed to protect American lives in Cuba.

The USS Claxton proceeded to New York where Reservists from Buffalo were disembarked. Full complements of officers and men will be taken on board from the Third Naval District, New York. The USS Taylor, with Naval Reservists from Rochester on board, also proceeded to New York City, where the Reservists were disembarked and full complements of officers and men taken on board from the Third Naval District.

The USS Hamilton, with the first and second divisions of Naval Reservists from Washington, D. C., proceeded to Washington Navy Yard, disembarked Naval Reservists, to fill up regular complements of officers and men at Washington. The USS Fairfax, with Naval Reservists on board from Camden, N. J., and Erie, Pa., proceeded to Bridgeport, Conn., to disembark Reservists, later proceeding to Philadelphia Navy Yard in order to fill her complement of regular officers and men.

The USS Ellis, with Naval Reservists on board from White Stone, L. I., disembarked Naval Reservists at that point and received full complement of regular officers and men. The USS Cole, with Naval Reservists on board from Jersey City, N. J., disembarked Reservists at New York and filled her complement of regular officers and men at that port. The USS Bernadou, with Naval Reservists from Ossining, N. Y., disembarked Reservists at New York and filled her complement of regular officers and men at that port. The USS Dupont, with Naval Reservists on board from Boston, Mass., proceeded to Boston Navy Yard, disembarked the Reservists and filled her complement at that port.

The USS Wyoming, training ship, with midshipmen on board on a regular practice cruise, is now in Narragansett Bay, off Newport, R. I. In addition the following destroyers and other vessels are now in Atlantic Coast ports:

USS J. Fred Talbott, destroyer, Coco Solo, Canal Zone.

USS Goff, destroyer, Key West, Fla.

USS Twiggs, destroyer, en route to Key West, Fla., due to arrive at Key West Sept. 9.

Marine Generals Appointed

the Philippines. He was appointed a brigadier general in 1924 and will retire for age on Dec. 31, 1933.

A graduate of both the Naval and Army War Colleges, General Williams is the author of several books, notably, Naval Reconnaissance, 1906, Port Directory of Foreign Ports of the World, 1911, and Army and Navy Uniforms and Flags, 1918. He holds the Congressional Medal of Honor.

General Lyman was appointed an officer of the Marine Corps by the President June 6, 1899, after service with the Army in the Spanish-American War. He is 53 years old, being born in Ohio, Sept. 22, 1875. Serving throughout the grades, he attained the rank of colonel, on Feb. 21, 1921.

General Lyman is a graduate of the Naval War College and the Army War College.

Temporary Duty Allowances

a mileage basis. However, by Section 206-(a) of the Economy Act of June 30, 1932 (47 Stat. 405) such officers were placed on a per diem basis the same as civilian officers of the Government.

"Section 206-(a) provides:

"During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1933, all provisions of law which authorize the payment of mileage to officers of the services mentioned in the Pay Adjustment Act of 1922 (U. S. C., title 37) are hereby suspended and in lieu thereof such officers shall be entitled to allowances for travel only as provided for civilian employees of the Government, and the Subsistence Expense Act of 1926, as modified by this Act, and by the Act of February 14, 1931 (Supp. V, U. S. Code, Title 5, Sec. 73a), shall apply to such travel * * *."

"Section 207 provides:

"Section 3 of the Subsistence Expense Act of 1926, approved June 3, 1926 (44 Stat. 688,689), is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 3. Civilian officers and employees of the departments and establishments, while traveling on official business and away from their designated posts of duty, shall be allowed, in lieu of their actual expenses for subsistence and all fees or tips to porters and stewards, a per diem allowance to be prescribed by the head of the department or establishment concerned, not to exceed the rate of $5 within the limits of continental United States, and not to exceed an average of $6 beyond the limits of continental United States."

"Section 208 amending Section 7 of the Subsistence Expense Act, provides: "Sec. 7. The fixing and payment, under section 3, of per diem allowance, or portions thereof, shall be in accordance with regulations which shall be promulgated by the heads of departments and establishments and which shall be standardized as far as practicable and shall not be effective until approved by the President of the United States."

"There can be no doubt as to the authority of the Secretary of War to assign officers of the Army to temporary duty as the exigencies of the service may require. This is purely a military question. Nor can there be any doubt as to his authority to issue such regulations as he deems necessary and proper respecting travel of officers in the Army. (See Sec. 161 R. S., and Section 208, amending Section 7 of the Subsistence Expense Act of 1926 supra.) It must follow, therefore, that unless Congress has declared an intention by law to limit the period within which officers of the Army may perform temporary duty at one place and receive per diem allowance in lieu of subsistence, the action of the Secretary of War on such matters must be accepted as final by other officers of the Government."

"It does not appear from the statutes above quoted that any definite limitation has been prescribed as to temporary duty, nor that any distinction is made therein between civilian officers and officers of the Army. Therefore, since it appears from the Standardized Government Travel Regulations (Par. 48-a; A. R. 35-4000, July 2, 1927, Par. 3d and e) and the Comptroller General's decision of February 28, 1927, published therein as Appendix VII that a civilian officer may be assigned to temporary duty and receive per diem allowance for periods longer than thirty days it necessarily follows that the same rule would apply to officers in the Army."

"In view of the foregoing it is my opinion, in the absence of some statutory direction to the contrary, that the matter of making regulations with respect to officers in the Army governing the performance of temporary duty at one place for which per diem allowance may be paid is vested by law exclusively within the jurisdiction of the Secretary of War and the President, and, therefore, the Comptroller General may not go behind your decision not to issue the regulation but must be guided by it in exercising his general authority to audit disbursements and settle accounts. (37 Op. A. G. 95, 100-101; 34 Op. A. G. 162, 170-171.)

"As to the amount of money actually due Captain Barbee on this voucher, that must be left to the determination of the Comptroller General subject to the effect of your action in connection therewith, and for that reason I shall not express my opinion on that question."

General Brown Leaves Panama

Word was received at the War Department this week that Maj. Gen. Preston Brown, USA, sailed from Panama Monday, Sept. 4, by commercial liner for New York on a two months' leave of absence.

General Brown relinquished command of the Panama Canal Department to Maj. Gen. Harold B. Fiske, USA, whose appointment to that grade and assignment to command the Department on General Brown's departure was announced recently.

Recent War Department orders assigned General Brown to command the Sixth Corps Area at Chicago when Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, its present commander, leaves in November to assume command of the Philippine Department.

General Brown, according to word received here, plans to make a tour of Europe, with Mrs. Brown, while on his leave.

General Preston Brown was born in Lexington, Kentucky, Jan. 2, 1872. He attended Yale University and upon graduation received the degree of A. B. in 1892, and M. A. (Honorary) in 1920; and attended the Law Department of the University of Virginia in 1893.

He enlisted in the Regular Army and served as private and corporal in Battery A, 5th Field Artillery, from September, 1894, to March, 1897; and was commissioned a second lieutenant of Infantry, Regular Army, in March, 1897, serving in various grades to major, to which he was promoted in May, 1916.

General Brown served in the following campaigns: Against Cheyenne Indians, 1897, Spanish-American War (Santiago, Cuba), 1898, Philippine Insurrection, 1900 and 1901, World War.

He was ordered to Austria in 1917 as Military Observer but was ordered to return to the United States on the outbreak of war with Germany.

He served as Chief of Staff of the 2nd Division from April 18, 1918, to September 20, 1918, and as such participated in the following engagements and sectors: Toison-Troyon Sector (near Verdun) March and April; Northeast of Chateau Thierry, May to July; Soissons Offensive July, 1918; Marbache Sector (near Pont-a-Mousson), August; St. Mihiel Offensive, September.

As Chief of Staff of the 2nd Division in the Soissons Offensive, General Brown served as right-hand man for Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord (now chairman of the board, Radio Corporation of America), who commanded the division and who also rose from the grade of private to major general in the Regular Army. General Brown and General Harbord are two of the outstanding American generals to rise from the enlisted ranks to major generals.

General Brown, as Chief of Staff of the 2nd Division, had much to do with the preparations for the attack on Vaux July 1, 1918, which was characterized by high French military leaders as one of the few "perfect attacks" of the war.

He was Chief of Staff of the 2nd Division when that Division was relieved in the Chateau Thierry sector (properly—the Sector Northeast of Chateau Thierry) by the 26th Division, New England National Guard.

He served as Chief of Staff of the 4th Army Corps from September to October, 1918, and as Commanding General of the 3rd Division in the Argonne from October to November, 1918. After the Armistice he was made Assistant Chief of Staff, AEF, and stationed in Treves, Germany, until July, 1919.

Since his return to the United States he has been an instructor at the General Staff College, Washington, D. C., commanded the 3rd Brigade, 2nd Division, at Camp Travis, Texas, the 1st Infantry at Ft. Wadsworth, New York.

On January 2, 1920, he was placed in command of the 1st Corps Area, with Headquarters at Boston, Mass., later coming to Washington as Deputy Chief of Staff, and then to Panama as Department Commander.

General Brown has been awarded the following decorations: Distinguished Service Medal (United States), Commander Legion of Honor (France) and Commander Order of the Crown (Belgium).

Joint Board

The Joint Board, composed of Army and Navy representatives, is planning the creation of a subordinate committee on Army-Navy economy. The board will meet next Thursday and at that time will take up the question.

The Army has indicated that it will appoint as its representatives, Lt. Col. James K. Crain, OD, Lt. Col. Irving J. Phillipson, GSC, Lt. Col. Harvey D. Higley, GSC, Maj. K. P. Lord, FD, and Maj. R. McG. Littlejohn, GSC. The Navy has not yet indicated whom it will appoint.

General Booth Sails for U. S.

Maj. Gen. Ewing E. Booth, USA, relinquished command of the Philippine Department on Sept. 7, sailing on the USAT Grant for San Francisco, due to arrive there Oct. 4.

Brig. Gen. Frank S. Cochen, USA, assumed temporary command of the Department pending the arrival there of Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, now commanding the Sixth Corps Area, who is under assignment to sail probably in November for the Philippines.

General Booth is under assignment to report to the Ninth Corps Area headquarters for duty. It is probable that he will shortly be granted a leave of absence, inasmuch as he reaches the statutory retirement age in February.

Placed on the GSC Eligible List

In accordance with the provisions of section 5, National Defense Act, as amended by an act of Congress approved May 21, 1928, the name of Maj. Arthur Heath Onthank, Military Intelligence Reserve, has been placed on the General Staff Corps eligible list, effective July 29, 1933, according to general orders announced this week.
